TWO CENTS

COSTS DIVIDED IN A LOCAL CASE

Joseph Abram of North Charleroi Found Not Guilty of Forcible Detainer; Costs Divided Between Him and Prosecutor

THE JURY BELIEVES BOTH

Case Grew Out of Altercation Over the Rental of Confectionery At Washington County End of Charleroi - Monessen Bridge in North Charleroi

Joseph Abram of North Charleroi, was found not guilty of forcible detainer and the costs equally divided between him and the private prosecutor, Alex Daumit, in court yesterday. Daumit resides in Monessen, and up to the time of the fire, conducted a confectionery at the Charleroi-Monessen bridge, North Charleroi.

The case, which went on trial last Friday, was given to the jury early yesterday afternoon, and grew out of an altercation over the rental. Abram owns the building and the lease for the ground, and later sublet to Daumit. The latter alleges that after the fire, which gutted the structure, and was rebuilt by Abram, that Abram refused to let him occupy the building. Abram countered by saying that Daumit refused to come back into the structure after the conflagration. The jury evidently believed them both and decided to let them pay for the time taken up in the trial.

The store was run under the firm name of Alex Daumit & Son, Mr. Daumit not being in active management.

Two cases in which the defendants are charged with driving automobiles while intoxicated are now on trial. Before Judge Brownson is being heard the case of William Almasi, of Millsboro, who was arrested April 21 by Chief of Police Lewis Vandever, of East Bethlehem township, when he attempted to drive his car through a barricade on the road. Several witnesses testified that Almasi was very much intoxicated when he was arrested. The defense will open its case this morning.

Before Judge Cummins was heard the case of Andy Lusk, of Donora, who was arrested by the Donora police in McKean avenue, that borough. At the time of the arrest another man was also in the car. Lusk was pronounced drunk when arrested, but he claims that he was not driving the car. The case is now with the jury.

Herman Johnson, the Monessen negro who was found guilty of murder in the second degree on Saturday for the killing of his sweetheart on June 1, 1924, was sent back to jail until next Monday, Judge Cummins stating that he wished to look up two acts of assembly first.

Peter Schwartz, who conducts a butcher shop in Donora, also entered a plea of guilty to the sale and possession of liquor, and was sentenced to pay the costs, a fine of $3,000, and to spend two years in the workhouse. This will be changed to the county jail in case the fine and costs are paid.

Schwartz, it was said, was a notoriety.

TO HAVE A JUNIOR BODY IN PROSPECT

Pans for the organization of a junior order of the Knights of Columbus, to be known as the Columbian Squires, was laid before the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania board of district deputies of the Knights of Columbus in the Duquesne Council Club House, Bellefield street and Fifth avenue Sunday.

This organization is the result of the stress being laid upon boy training by the Knights of Columbus all over the country. The Knights of Columbus, it was stated at Sunday's meeting, has at present in Notre Dame University 25 young men who are being educated in a two year course in boy training. These are to be the leaders of the Columbian Squires, which will include Catholic boys between the ages of 7 and 16.

To Continue Red Cross Must Get Help

Support must be given the Charleroi Chapter of the American Red Cross if its work among the sick and ailing war veterans and school children is to continue on the same scale as it has been conducted in recent years.

John D. Berryman, chapter chairman of the Roll Call of the organization, urges that canvassers redouble their efforts in its behalf and also asks that the public give generously so active since the close of the World war.

For many years the Red Cross was only linked with wars and disasters, but during the great World war it started a work among the soldiers of the United States which it was felt by Red Cross leaders must be continued. They had a vision of the future which would be precipitated when the millions of soldiers returned home.

They knew that these veterans would need a friend in time of peace, just as they did when they were in France or in army camps in this country.

The Red Cross has been a loyal friend to the veterans and wants to continue to fill that role but it must have support.

But the Red Cross not only lends a helping hand to the ex-soldiers and soldiers, it nurses give aid to the sick and crippled and to communities in times of epidemics.

Such work cannot be accomplished more economically than through the Red Cross.

WANTS TO BE A PRIVATE SLEUTH

Carried into the Monongahela river in an automobile from a ferry, Henry Martin, of Romco, is alive to tell of his harrowing experience.

Martin, on last Friday, started for Greene county to hunt. He drove his car on the boat at the McCann Ferry and then left it. Getting back in to drive it to a new position to make room for another car, it dived forward and over the end of the ferry into the stream.

The water is 20 feet deep at the point. Martin managed to free himself from the auto but came up under the ferryboat. Although he wore boots and heavy hunting clothes, he managed to swim to the shore. He is married and has a wife and eight children.

MANY ACCIDENTS ARE REPORTED DURING THE YEAR

Harrisburg, Nov. 18.—There was a larger number of accidents during the first 10 months of this year reported to the State Workmen's Compensation bureau than during the entire year in 1923, however, last year there were 50,000 more than so far in 1924.

Up to November 1, this year, industries reported 149,751 accidents, compared with 200,435 last year, and 146,255 in 1922. Last year was the highest in accident frequency since 1918, the war year.

The fatal accident report shows 1,828 since January 1, with 189 occurring in October. The January toll was 287 and except for March with 212, the figure each month was kept below 200. In April only 151 fatalities were reported from mines, public service and industry.

The amount of compensation paid this year has been $8,633,952. Of this $2,908,163 was for fatality and $5,725,789 for disability.

Under the new provision of the compensation law $2,533,734 was awarded and $2,271,451 was paid for loss of fingers and parts of fingers.

STREET CAR AND AN AUTO IN COLLISION

A street car and automobile collision occurred in Fallowfield avenue between Fourth and Fifth streets today at 1:00, when a Ford truck attempted to race with the street car to the corner of Fifth in order that it would not have to stop, and being obliged to drive very close to the electric car on account of a couple parked on the right hand side of the street in front of the Southern Furniture company, the front wheels of the Ford locked with those of the street car. The machine was dragged for several feet and had to be lifted from its entanglement before the

Charged With Stealing A Bank Book

John Novak, of Van Vorhis yesterday morning entered suit before Alderman R. L. Elwood of Monongahela against Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fukas of that place charging them with larceny of his bank book.

Novak, until a week ago, boarded at the Fukas home. He secured quarters at another boarding house, leaving his trunk at the Fukas residence.

Two days after leaving, he was arrested, charged with stealing $300 from Frank Fukas' strongbox and lodged in the Monongahela lockup. The information was made before Alderman Miller of Carroll township.

The money was later found in a shed, and Fukas was released under bail for a further hearing. He went to the house intending to remove his trunk from the premises, and then discovered that his bank book containing a list of deposits in the sum of $926.85, was missing. He appeared before Alderman Elwood and preferred charges against Mr. and Mrs. Fukas. The information was presented and a warrant issued for their arrest.

WIFE OF A DIVINE DEAD; PASSING BEING PROBED

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 18.—County authorities probe a murder theory in the mysterious death of Mrs. C. V. Sheatsley, wife of a Lutheran minister and capital University professor, whose charred body was found on a bench in the furnace of the parsonage.

Rev. Sheatsley told authorities he discovered his wife's remains after noticing an odor of burning flesh in the house.

"She must have committed suicide," the pastor said in reporting to police headquarters.

Coroner Murphy and County Prosecutor King, however, declared they were unable to understand how Mrs. Sheatsley could have crawled in the bed of coals and early today a coronial investigation was ordered.

Mrs. Sheatsley's body was so badly burned that it was impossible, the coroner said, to determine whether she had been attacked before her cremation.

Atlantic City, Nov. 18.—The charred body of a woman was taken from the still smouldering ruins of the Hotel Bothwell here today, bringing the death list in the $750,000 fire which destroyed two hotels and part of the Steel Pier last night, to two. The dead woman was not identified immediately. Twelve persons, including Mrs. Mary Slick of South Fork, Pa., were burned or suffocated. Others were injured in the blaze and were treated in hospitals today.

Flames Raze Two Big Hotels, Kills One Man, Ruins Front of Famous Steel Pier, And Threatens Entire Boardwalk

GUESTS FLEE FOR LIVES

Guests today are also working in the bitter cold clearing away debris of the Third Great Waterfront Fire Which Swept New York Harbor

Nov. 18.—Fire razed two big Atlantic City hotels where members of the National Grange were stopping. Killed one man, ruined the front of the famous Steel Pier, and threatened for a time to sweep the entire boardwalk, before it was checked early today.

In the biting cold of early morning, the city's entire fire-fighting force, augmented by volunteer bucket brigades on the roofs, had saved the situation, but only after $750,000 damage had been caused and six persons injured or overcome.

The dead James Bennett, 80, New York City. Seriously injured Mrs. Mary Flick, South Fork, Pa. Marv thrilling rescues were effected in freezing temperatures, guests of the big hotels who had been overcome by smoke being carried out by firemen.

The hotels destroyed were the Bothwell and the Senator, on Virginia avenue adjoining the boardwalk. The loss here was $600,000 according to Nur J. Collins, who operates them.

Five hundred guests of the two hotels, many in scanty attire, fled to safety through smoke filled corridors. So rapidly did the flames which were discovered in the Bothwell shortly after 9 p. m., gain headway, that by the time firemen arrived some of the guests were trapped on upper stories and had to be taken down aerial ladders.

James Bennett was one of those whose escape was cut off. He tried to climb out on a cornice and fell. Firemen climbed to where he lay helpless and carried him out in a blanket just as the flames licked their way up to his room. He succumbed in a hospital early today.

Mrs. Flick, scurrying down a corridor, tripped and fell down a flight of stairs when a dense cloud of smoke enveloped her. She broke both legs.

Five firemen were taken to hospitals and treated for suffocation and minor injuries.

Charleroi High To Meet Monongahela At Monongahela On Friday

Charleroi High School's next objective is Monongahela City High whose team will be met on Friday afternoon at 2:30 at Monongahela City. The game will be played on the new field adjacent to the new High School building.

The Monongahela team is coached by "Al" Wierman former Tech star who has held the reins at Monongahela for two years. His team's record this year has been fine. Starting the season with a light scrappy team his squad was undefeated until they met California High School. This game they lost by one touchdown which was scored in the first few minutes of play after a questionable decision by the referee gave the California team a thirteen yard gain. Last week they lost to Donora by a 7-0 score. Local followers who witnessed this game claim that Monongahela was handicapped severely by the deplorable condition of the field. Coach Stepanian and his squad are taking Friday's game with all the seriousness that the California contest was taken and are taking nothing for granted. Working with an offense similar to that in vogue at Carnegie Tech, the Monongahela team makes up for its lack of weight with a fast, deceptive running attack with Smith as their pivot. In Booth and Abbot they can boast of two exceptional ends. Odell a veteran of three seasons plays a heady and aggressive game at guard. All of these boys will be in action on Friday.

The officials for the game are as follows:

Referee, Asche; umpire, Korb; linesman, Evans.

The admission charge will be seventy-five cents. Charleroi High students may purchase tickets on Thursday at student rate, thirty-five cents.

A large crowd of students and town patrons are planning to attend and everything indicates that a real contest will be staged by the two rival schools.

STEPANIAN TO PLAY WITH THE FINKELHORS

Manager W. A. Baker of the newly formed Nate Finkelhor Basketball team has announced that Steven Stepanian, present coach of Charleroi's undefeated High School Football team, will play for his quintet this season.

Stepanian played last year for the Butler Independents at guard. He was a star at Grove City college a few years ago, when Grove City had the best team in college circles in Western Pennsylvania.

FIREMEN HOLD THEIR FIRST PRACTICE

The Charleroi Fire department held their first practice in the High School gymnasium last night. A squad of twenty-five men reported for the practice session and were put through a stiff drill by Chief Lowstuter. Enthusiasm among the members of the squad ran high and the Firemen have a squad on the floor which will be hard to beat.

WALTER JOHNSON PASSES FROM THE BIG SHOW

Oakland club in the Pacific Coast Baseball League will change hands today, passing into the ownership of Walter Johnson, pitching ace of the Washington Americans and George Weiss owner of the New Haven club in the Eastern League it was announced yesterday by J. Cal Ewing, retiring Oakland owner.

The consideration was not announced, but it was indicated by Ewing that it was in the neighborhood of $385,000.

Negotiations were concluded and the check was signed at a conference in the Hotel Oakland today, Ewing announced, the actual transfer papers will be signed today.

The deal was put over after having nearly fallen through last week, the conference came to a stalemate on the question of price. Johnson departed for his home in Reno to await developments.

ZIVIC LOSES TO RAPPAPORT

Jack Rappaport of South Orange was awarded the decision over Jack Zivic of Pittsburgh last night at the Newark N. J. Laurel A. C., according to the newspaper men at the ring-side.

Rappaport had the contest well in hand from the start and got better as he went along. In the fifth round Rappaport knocked Zivic down, although the Smoky City lad arose without taking a count. Zivic did not seem to be in form and lost many opportunities. Rappaport took seven of the 12 rounds, Zivic four and one was even.

Lot's Wife

On the island of St. Helena there is a curious and interesting rock called Lot's Wife. It stands erect on the crest of a ridge that runs across the island, and is supposed to be a mass of lava long ago forced up through a crack in the crust. It is nearly or quite 300 feet high and when seen from a distance bears a striking resemblance to a draped human figure of tremendous size.

First People in Britain

Geologists are not yet agreed when and by whom Britain was first peopled. Real knowledge began with the two Celtic invasions, that of the Celts in the latter part of the Bronze age, and that of the Brythons and Belgae in the Iron age. By the time of Julius Caesar all the inhabitants of Britain, except perhaps some tribes in the North, were Celts in speech and customs.

Teeth of Elephants

An elephant has eight teeth, two above and two below on each side. They are huge yellow molars as wide as a man's hand. Over these their food is shifted by the queerest, ugliest tongue in the whole animal kingdom. Elephants, like human beings, have two sets of teeth. The milk teeth, which are smaller than the permanent molars, fall out when the animals are fourteen years old.

Fuel in Food

Sedentary occupations may be compared to a heater with the drafts closed or one in which the fire is simply being held. Therefore, those engaged in sedentary occupation do not require as much food fuel as those engaged in muscular effort, and fruits should have an important place in their diets.—Grit.

On His Showing With Vicentini, Depends Cuddy's Lightweight Aspirations

Tonight at Waterbury, Conn., Cuddy DeMarco, Charleroi flash, will answer the critics as to his right to take part in the lightweight elimination tourney.

Cuddy left Sunday night for the East and Manager Mason departed last night after the Greb-Delaney bout. Should Cuddy be successful against Vicentini tonight it would bring him country-wide recognition, as the Chilean has been a sensation by his knockout tactics.

THE CHARLEROI TRIANGLES WILL PLAY THIS SEASON

The Grand Five Basketball team of last year has reorganized for the coming season under the caption of the Charleroi Triangles. At the last meeting "Tex" Rickard was elected captain and Thomas Kirby, former Charleroi High School football star, manager. The team is composed of such players as Rickard, Oates, League, Shultz Anderson, Kornhi, Dillon and VanDermei.

The team is entered in the Monongahela Valley Press League and a successful season is looked for by all followers of the team. Any teams desiring games call 295 or 445 or see Thomas Kirby, Charleroi, Pa.

Most Dangerous Big Game

As fierce as the tiger and more ferocious than the lion, the African elephant is known by many big-game hunters as the most dangerous of wild animals. Although its Indian cousin has been a servant of man for thousands of years and delights crowds at circuses throughout the countries where carnivals are popular, there is not a single recorded instance of the African elephant being tamed. A training camp was established in Congo several years ago in the hope of teaching them to work, but the attempt failed. The African elephant sometimes bulks twice as big as most Asiatic specimens seen at a circus, according to hunters. Their intelligence and cunning are amazing. They also possess a keen sense of smell, being able to detect the presence of a man at least 1,000 yards away. At the crash of a gun, they stampede, fleeing almost noiselessly, in spite of their huge bulk, into the jungle grasses.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Jewish Sanhedrim

The Sanhedrim was the supreme national council of the Jews, traditionally supposed to have been instituted by Moses, but more probably founded by Ezra, after the return from the captivity (536 B. C.). It is first mentioned by Josephus in connection with the reign of John Hyrcanus II (70-38 B. C.). The Sanhedrim was composed of 70 or, as some say, 71 members; was presided over by the high priest; and exercised administrative and judicial functions. After the destruction of Jerusalem in 70 A. D., this council led a migratory existence, and finally established itself at Babylon. It became wholly extinct in the year 425 A. D.—Kansas City Star.

Executed the Informers

Highwaymen and their depredations were the cause of much trouble and anxiety during the early part of the last century in the region of northern Mississippi. A reward of $500 for the capture of their leader was offered. Two of the band turned traitors and slew their chief to obtain the money. They concluded to take the robber's head, for identification, to the town of Natchez. The authorities paid over the reward, and then arrested, tried and executed the bandits. As no heirs appeared to claim their estate—consisting of the aforesaid $500—the money duly reverted to the treasury of the commonwealth.

M'GARVEY RESIGNS AS MATCHMAKER MOTG'S SQUARE CLUB

Johnny McGarvey last night resigned as matchmaker of Motor Square Garden, Pittsburgh's only big time fight club. After months of deliberation McGarvey felt the call of the laws of self preservation, and rather than undermine his health and aggravate a condition which has been a source of worry to him since last year, McGarvey threw in the sponge after a tenure of office as matchmaker which stretched over 2 years.

McGarvey has been the only matchmaker Motor Square has had since it entered the fight business and his record there is almost without equal in fight annals, the club never having staged a losing show. During his resignation McGarvey broke down three fighters to the East End arena and Motor Square showed more champions than any other club outside the metropolitan area.

ATLANTIC CITY HAS BIG $750,000 BLAZE

(Continued from first page) today were working in the bitter cold clearing away debris of the third great waterfront fire which has swept the New York harbor district in a week, causing property damage estimated at more than $1,000,000.

One man was missing, eight in hospitals and others suffering from minor injuries as a result of the latest blaze which destroyed the Sinclair oil tanker William Boyce Thompson, a big barge, and 87,000 gallons of gasoline with a loss of more than $700,000.

An explosion aboard the barge last night set fire to the gasoline aboard the tanker which was anchored alongside. The flames fanned by a high wind spread to the shore and reached the tanks of the Sinclair company. The first tank in the pathway of the flames was destroyed with 8,000 gallons of gasoline, but employed drained the other tanks and checked further spread of the fire.

Fifty Shipping Board vessels anchored three abreast were in constant danger with sparks and burning embers constantly dropping on their decks and were only saved by a hard fight.

The man who is missing was a carpenter at work on the tanker at the time of the explosion and there was some hope he may have jumped overboard and reached shore in safety.

Over a score of men aboard the tankers jumped into the icy water when flames blocked their escape to the pier, and reached shore with only minor injuries.

Children of 29,942 Schools Now Enrolled in Movement of Service to Humanity.

The American Junior Red Cross, which was organized as a children's auxiliary during war-times especially to help the young refugees in Europe, and to exemplify in peace-time the Red Cross ideal of service, has now a membership of 5,596,663 in the schools of the United States and the insular possessions.

This Junior movement gives opportunity for the children to share in Red Cross effort parallel to that of the parent organization. Juniors are therefore identified in varying degree with the health services, disaster relief work, salvage and other suitable activities of value to the operations of the Red Cross.

It is a valiant host marching on under its "I Serve" banner in the cause of happier childhood everywhere and particularly wherever the American flag flies. The enrollment embraces 29,942 schools and 147,436 school rooms. A gain over 1923 of 5,555 schools and 22,414 school rooms. The year's gain in membership was 769,402 children, or nearly 80,000 for each month of the school year.

The educational and social values of the Junior Red Cross movement is thus evidencing the firm and cordial endorsement of school authorities. The government has added the weight of recognition by extending the Junior Red Cross in the schools for American Indian children. The American Red Cross is also planning to develop the Junior program in 600 rural schools in isolated sections.

There is no abatement of the exchange of correspondence between schools in the United States and schools in the insular possessions and foreign lands. During the year the Junior Red Cross in part supported operations in twelve European countries. It is a potent influence for the cultivation of international goodwill and its example has been the means of stimulating the formation of Junior Red Cross societies in more than thirty countries.

RED CROSS RAISES $10,000,000 IN 21 DAYS FOR RELIEF

Terrible catastrophes, such as the Japanese earthquake, prove the wisdom of the people in maintaining the American Red Cross as their national and international relief agency. The readiness of the Red Cross for duty in the greatest of emergencies was also proved by test.

The record shows: Sept. 3, President Coolidge assigns the duty of raising $5,000,000 to the American Red Cross; Sept. 4, Red Cross Chapters in over 3,500 communities given fund allotments; Sept. 12, fund totals $5,562,000; Sept. 17, fund nearly $8,000,000 and President announces formal closing of campaign; Sept. 27, fund passes $10,000,000 mark.

In 21 business days the Red Cross doubly performed the duty entrusted to it—all the while keeping a steady flow of relief supplies going out from many Pacific ports to the stricken areas in Japan. Thus was the confidence of the American people in their Red Cross justified and the wisdom of Red Cross preparedness to cope with an unprecedented relief emergency confirmed.

ALL CAN GIVE.

All can give to the Red Cross movement. There are none so poor, but that they can give at least a dollar. The average person thinks little of a dollar, when they desire to derive amusement, or perchance a banquet where the "inner man" can be appeased or satisfied. It is written that "the profits most, who serves best." This is a truism which can be successfully applied in this Red Cross drive. Doing for others, rendering succor, unselfishness, giving aid to the ex-service brouer, at this thanksgiving time, when our hearts should be attuned with praise and thankfulness to the "Giver of every good and perfect gift," these are the quintessence of happiness.

The act of giving should be in the same spirit of whole-hearted devotion to a worthy cause, such as characterize the labors of the workers in a worthy patriotism. It must be taken into consideration that the loyal hearts—ladies and gentlemen—who are devoting their time and hard work in this worthy cause, are doing so without hope of reward of any kind; their reward is simply and purely a "labor of love," with its recompense of service nobly and charitably done.

Make their work easy by giving, accordingly as you have prospered, in this annual Roll Call.

AS TO HOME BREW

The Volstead act appears to make an exception of the farmer and his cider but not an exception in favor of the town dweller and his wine brewed from fruit juices. Concluding that the latter has a vote as well as the former and is as much entitled to consideration Representative John Philip Hill of Baltimore called for equality under the law and spectacularly went about the production of a test case. He had an apple tree in his back yard and called it his "apple orchard." He not only made cider and wine, according to recipes furnished by the agricultural department, but published the inevitable growth of illegal alcoholic content on charts in front of his house and through the newspapers. He circulated to be indicted and finally had his wish. His methods and the trial itself have amused the whole country, but if now looks as if good will come out of it in the form of a definite interpretation of the law likely to involve a recognition of the legality of home brew for home use only in city as well as country, notwithstanding the fact that such brew, through nature's inevitable process, will soon develop a greater alcoholic content than the letter of the law allows.

For District Judge Soper, officiating in the Baltimore case, has given his opinion that Congress intended to permit cider and fruit juice wine, exclusively for use in the home, to be made there without regard to the requirement of only one-half of one per cent of alcohol as otherwise there would have been no singling out of the home manufacture of cider for special mention in the act. Congress may indeed have made an exception for the benefit of the farmer only, but if it is to stand it will have to be in favor of home brewers in general and representative Hill has performed a service in forcing a test of the question.

What the World Is Doing

(As Seen by Popular Mechanics Magazine)

Rider, Chained to Bicycle, Begins Trip around World

Chained and manacled to his bicycle, an Ohio man has started his mad trip around the world. He already has completed several hundred miles of the journey which he expects will take three years, as his progress is limited by his bonds. He must eat, sleep, bathe, shave and do everything within six feet of his bicycle—the length of the chain that holds him. At the start of the trip, the chief of police of Toledo snapped the manacle in place on the rider's right wrist and filled the keyhole with molten lead so that it cannot be unlocked.

Death of Laughter and Jokes Seen As World Becomes Wiser

An age when everyone will be too intelligent to see humor in anything is predicted by Dr. C. G. Shaw, of New York university. When all people are fully educated and developed, no one will smile if a man loses his hat in the wind, slips on a banana peel or sits down on the headpiece, in the opinion of the scientist. People laugh at what they do not understand, he says, or what seems to be inferior to them, as was the case when scoffers derived a great deal of amusement from the theories of Columbus and Galileo. Jests and funny drawings to illustrate jokes will be preserved in public institutions for the benefit of visitors who may learn of the "age of laughter" only from such relics and historical works, he declares.

Birds That Topple Steeples

The stopping of the large clock in the tower of an English church, due to jackdaws having built their nests in the works, has called attention to the damage done by these birds. They seem to have a special liking for steeples and similar high places, and often cause such structures to become weakened and to tip over to constant pecking at the mortar of the masonry. One spire threatened with collapse was found to be crumbling from the attacks of swarms of young jackdaws housed in the interior. They were gathered and lowered to the ground in buckets and the openings through which the birds gained entrance to the tower were screened.

Snow Is Stored in Earth in Winter and Sold as Ice in Summer

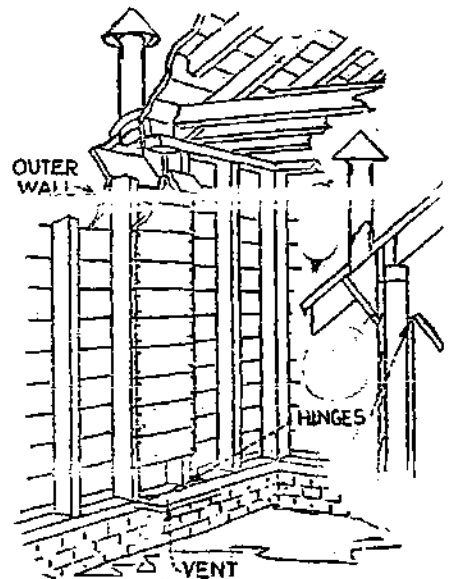

In some of the smaller towns of Europe where a supply of ice for cooling foods and drinks during the long, hot summers is important and where neither artificial nor natural ice is available, snow is stored and packed into cone-shaped pits dug in the earth where it freezes into solid lumps. After storms, gangs of men shovel the snow into carts and haul it to the pits and pack and tramp it down as hard as possible. When the heap is nearly level with the top of the pit, it is covered with a foot-thick layer of earth as a means of protection and insulation. In summer it is sawed into oblong blocks and sold in the town.

Cement for Metals

A very good cement for uniting metal parts consists of 2 1/2 parts zinc oxide, 1 part zinc cyanide and 5 parts pulverized limestone and slag. The whole is mixed to a thick paste with water. If a slow-setting cement is desired, use 1 part of zinc sulphate instead of the zinc chloride. The adhesive power of this cement may be increased by adding 2 per cent of ferrous sulphate to the whole.

Ventilating the Barn

Most barns are poorly ventilated, and this is both bad policy and a discredit to the owner. In cases where provision for ventilation has not been made when the barn was built, the arrangement shown in the drawing can be installed. The space between two studdings of the outer wall is boarded up, a vent being left at both top and bottom, which can be closed by means of a hinged board whenever necessary. A hole is cut in the roof above the boarded space, the plate over the studdings being avoided by the construction shown in the detail. A sheet-metal pipe, 4 to 6 in. in diameter and provided with a hood, is attached to the roof over the hole. The vents can be closed or opened according to weather conditions.

Some candidates manage to get elected in spite of their campaign managers.

DISASTER!

If a disaster befell Charleroi, Washington, Claysville, Bentleyville, Monongahela, or any other town in Washington county tonight and in the darkness hundreds of people found themselves, shelterless, naked and unfed in the midst of circumstances that we have no words to describe, what would be your first hope?

The relief sources of these communities might be paralyzed. Probably those who would be most active in caring for others would find themselves stricken and helpless. Tidings of the catastrophe would be flashed far and wide and sympathetic people everywhere would wish that they might contribute to their relief, but hours and days would of necessity pass before that relief could be organized and brought to you.

What then would be your first hope? Would it not be that in the midst of your necessity, the tidings would flash to you, "The American Red Cross is on the way; it is bringing food, clothing, blankets, medical relief and trained workers, who have learned how in the experience of a multitude of such disasters; cheer up and hold fast; the Red Cross is coming."

It is that message that has brought comfort and courage to thousands stricken and that out of instant readiness, thereby saving thousands of precious lives.

If disaster struck this community tonight the American Red Cross would be on the job at once. How many communities it has saved from hopeless abandonment, how many families have been re-gathered that might otherwise have drifted apart in the grim touch of tragedy, how many human lives have been snatched from pitiless death there are no trustworthy figures to relate.

It is simply the story of an experience that has taught both means and method, an experience that emphasizes the necessity for preparedness, which is the greatest element in relief, and if for no other reason the readiness of the American Red Cross to serve in quick emergency should commend it to the enthusiastic support of the nation. In the field of disaster the Red Cross knows only human necessity; it makes no distinction of race, color or creed, but answers merely the call of that human suffering which knits all men together in the bonds of a common helplessness.

Throughout the land the American Red Cross has established disaster relief centers, so situated geographically that speed in relief may become the essential feature. This community is one of the centers—your local Red Cross chapter.

We know that no human ingenuity can prevent calamity; its peculiar tragedy lies in the fact of its unexpectedness, but we owe it alike to ourselves and to our fellow men to see to it that relief stands ready on the heels of circumstance.

Your membership this year in the American Red Cross will make its organization more substantial, its equipment more efficient, its readiness more assured and your contribution, small though it be in itself, will help to augment the fund that keeps relief always ready.

Who knows, it may be yourself to whom that dollar or those dollars will come back, a winged messenger of human sympathy, bringing relief and help.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL NOVEMBER 11th to 27th

Today and Yesterday

FEW youngsters to-day ever saw a horse-hair sofa. They wouldn't know what to do with a fire taper, carpet stretcher, or coal oil lamp. They couldn't braid rags into a rug, or wind yarn without tangling. But they know the how and why of typewriters, phonographs, radios, telephones, automobiles; what happens when a push of the button gives light, or a kodak's flash fixes their image on paper.

Their education is as modern as the advertisements they see. They have no more use for the lamp and chimney of yesterday than you for the wick and tallow of the day before.

Advertisements induce such progress. They urge wide use that means improvement. They help you lift the out-of-date into the attic—rid you of the water buckets and soap kettles of slavery. They bring late improvements within your reach.

Read the advertisements regularly. Keep alert to the new.

Dark and Light Moon

The United States weather bureau says that "light moon" or "light of the moon" means all that time during which the moon is above the horizon through the forepart of the night, or from dusk to bed time, say 11 o'clock p. m. "Dark moon" or "dark of the moon" means all the rest of the time, or all the time that is not "light of the moon." But country people usually have a different theory. They consider "light of the moon" the time when the moon is going from "new"
to "full," and "dark of the moon" when the moon is on the wane. The fact is the terms "dark moon" and "light-moon" are purely popular terms and have no scientific significance whatever.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Franklin and Masonry

The first American newspaper item concerning a lodge of Freemasons in the western hemisphere, according to a recently published book, "The Beginnings of Freemasonry in America," appeared in the Philadelphia Gazette for December 8, 1730. This paper was published by Benjamin Franklin.Oddly enough, says the Detroit News, the item consisted of an alleged exposure of Freemasonry which had been circulated for some time in England. Franklin afterward became a Mason and held the position of grand master of the province of Pennsylvania.

Much Heat Wasted

Nearly a billion and a half dollars go up American chimneys every year in wasted heat, according to engineers who have been studying the fuel requirements of the country. This great loss is blamed on extravagant and inefficient methods of firing and on faulty standards of construction.
About 60 per cent of the heat produced by burning coal is said to escape through the tops of buildings.—New surprise to Mrs. Lundy, who upon her arrival was greeted by approximately 25 of her friends. She was present-

11 o'clock luncheon was served by the club members assisted by Mrs. S.

their way homeward, all departing with sincere wishes for happiness and prosperity for the bride and groom.The Zananna Bible Class mem-very good attendance, totaling 40.

The affair was in the form of an ingathering in preparation for the bazaar to be held Thursday and Friday of this week and many beautiful articles were received and put on display. During the social hour, Mrs.
Earl Nicholson pleased her listeners with several vocal solos, while Mrs. Frank Welch entertained in her usual pleasing manner by giving several recitations. At the close of the evening the hostesses served a deliriage. The wedding, a very pretty one, was quiet, the attendants, Miss only witnesses. The bride was becomingly attired in an ensemble suit of fawn skin material, her dress shade

the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Langhals left for a trip to Portsmouth, Ohio,

AWAY FROM ANY CONTAGIONHarrisburg, Nov. 18.—Children's diseases were held up today as more serious than parents are inclined to regard them, in the weekly health talk of the State Department of Health."The old time theory that all children must have them has long since been disproven while it is not impossible for grown people to contract any of the so-called diseases of childhood, it is exceptional."To be on the safe side, keep your children away from contagion and should an epidemic be present consult a doctor on the first unusual symptom."This was the advice of Dr. William C. Miller, director of the bureau of public health education, as a precaution and a preventive step to avoid the ravages of disease where it is unnecessary.Diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles, whooping cough and mumps each presents grave dangers to the young because of the baneful after effects,
he declared.LINCOLN FILM
ATTRACTS CROWD
AT MAJESTIC"Abraham Lincoln" as pictured at the Majestic theatre last night impressed large audiences, and is meritorious taken from its historical value and the impress which it leaves in the minds and the hearts of the spectators. The character of Lincoln is ably visualized by George Billings, whose resemblance to the martyred president is said to be remarkable. And it is further remarkable that the people of today are privileged to see a man who not only "looks like Lincoln," but one who has the mannerisms of the great war president. The picture is particularly of value to the youth of today, in that it depicts the life of one who, in the humblest of beginnings, and through troubles and sorrows which would have dismayed and discouraged the average man, yet pursued the way, which, in his light, was the right, to the highest pinnacle of fame.Mr. Billings' support is uniformly good. The characters of Ann Rutledge and Mrs. Lincoln are admirably sustained, as are those of Stephen A.
Douglas, and all the great generals and men of that period. Lincoln's life is depicted from the cradle to the grave, his burdens, his love for humanity, his faith that in the right success must reign, all contributes a glowing picture, and one which renews the best in patriotism in human instinct.greatest picture extant, but its seeing will leave an impress on the mind long after the "best" has faded from the memory.

ous hoodligger in Donora, and had made statements regarding both the court and the district attorney after he failed to appear in court last Monday, although he was out under $5,000 bail. He came into court yesterday, a much subdued man, and entered his plea. He said that the liquor which the officers found in his place had been stored there by a man named Cohen from Westmoreland county, and that he, Schaefer, had purchased it from him. He denied making any statements regarding the court.

Jeff Carbaugh, aged 65 years of Donora, indicted on six counts for immoral conduct with a number of young girls, pleaded guilty generally to the indictment before Judge James I. Brownson yesterday afternoon and was sentenced to 15 months in jail and a fine of $203. It was alleged that the man, who has been in jail since July 26, was a public nuisance and an evil disposed person. It is apparent that he is deficient mentally.

GOOD SPEAKERS AT THE CONGRESS IN WASHINGTON

It is the invariable rule of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress never to announce a speaker until a definite acceptance has been received from him. Invitations have been extended to a number of distinguished speakers from whom answers have not yet been received but it is already certain that the program of the Twentieth Convention which is to be held in Washington, on the 10th and 11th of December, will not be second in interest to any by which it has been preceded.

Two great ports on opposite sides of the continent are to be described, "Philadelphia," by George F. Sproule, Director of the Department of Wharves, Docks and Ferries, and "Seattle," by Hon. John F. Miller, M. C. Mr. Miller's address will be illustrated with moving pictures.

"Free Ports" or more properly "Free Zones" have been established in a number of European countries and more recently in Mexico. The proposition that such zones be established in ports in the United States has been advocated and opposed.

The argument in favor of free zones will be presented by Frank S. Davis, Manager, Maritime Association of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, and to argument on the other side by Wilbur F. Wakeman of New York City, Treasurer and General Secretary of the American Protective Tariff League.

Another question as to which there are decided differences of opinion is that of Port Differentials. The view held of the subject by North Atlantic Ports will be presented by Julius Henry Cohen, General Counsel of the Port of New York Authority and the view held by the South Atlantic Ports by Mr. Thomas J. Buile, Traffic Commissioner of the Charleston (S. C.) Chamber of Commerce. Maj. Gen. Harry Taylor, Chief of Engineers, U. S. Army, will speak of Recent Progress on River and Harbor Work, and Brig. Gen. T. Q. Ashmun, Chairman of the Board, Executive of the U. S. Inland Waterways Corporation, will speak on "The Inland Waterways Corporation of the United States."

Frederick H. Fay of Boston, will describe "The Influence of the Water and Canal Improvements upon Freight Movements on the Great Lakes," and Edwin H. Duff of Washington, D. C. representative of the Inland Water Lines Association of the Great Lakes, will tell of "The Effect of the Seaman's Act Upon Great Lakes Transportation."

Charles E. Ashbourne, City Manager of Stockton, Cal., will give an address on "Inland Ports" and W. T. Donnelly of New York City will tell of "River and Harbor Transportation with increased Dispatch and Lower Cost."

Additional speakers and their subjects will be announced shortly. Besides the formal addresses there will be numerous short talks by the delegates which will give a wide view of what the waterway people throughout the country are doing.

WARNER'S RECORD MUST IRK CROVER BERGDOLL

Laramie, Wyoming, Nov. 18.—Monte Warner, American Legionnaire of this place, has a World War record that must irk Grover Bergdoll, the celebrated draft dodger, he has four perfectly good honorable discharges from the United States Army, packed away in his trunk and "Monte Warner" is the name on all of them. It came about this way.

Mr. Warner enlisted for the first time in the training camp in April, 1917, and not having qualified at that time for an aviation commission he was discharged, honorable discharge No. 1. He immediately re-enlisted as an aviation cadet at the same field and while awaiting his commission he was assigned to instruction duty. In the performance of that service his plane suffered an accident in which his mechanic was killed and he seriously injured. As a result, he was discharged on March 4, 1918, honorable discharge No. 2. After some difficulty and much unwinding of red tape he secured a medical waiver and was permitted to re-enlist at Washington the following May, having made the trip to Washington while still dependent on crutches. He was ordered to Chanute Field, Rantaul, Ill., where on his third start he qualified for his wings in short order and was discharged in order to be commissioned, honorable discharge No. 3. He was again assigned to instruction duty, and although he applied for work in another department to expedite the order that would send him to France, the Armistice interfered. His fourth and final honorable discharge followed.

FUROR IS AROUSED BY HIS STORY OF VERSAILLES "DUEL"

Wickham Steed, former editor of the London Times, has created a furor abroad with a story in his memoirs, just published, about a challenge to a duel hurled at Lloyd-George by Clemenceau at the peace conference. He says that the Frenchman accused the British premier of deliberate misrepresentations. They grappled, but Woodrow Wilson separated them, the story goes. Lloyd-George has issued a denial, but Steed avows the story is true.

Good and Bad Luck

To balance "unlucky" superstitions there are many "lucky" ones. If, when dressing one accidentally puts on a garment inside out, an unexpected gift will shortly arrive. To carry about a coin with a hole in it is to secure one's self against misfortune and if swallows are permitted to build nests in a house, the owner need not trouble to take out a fire insurance policy, for fire will never attack a dwelling thus protected.

Where Walnuts Flourish

Commercial success in growing the English walnut is found only in southern California. In the Eastern states, so far as the present data show, it may be said that the Persian walnut flourishes on all soils upon which the black walnut is found, and under favorable conditions on some others. Sandy loams, clay loams and gravelly loams if not too open, are suitable for the growth of this tree.
